

~ Sentence Models ~

- Sentence #1 The yellow lab, seeking a milkbone, jumped on Elmer's lap.
Her cottage, a dilapidated and decaying building, stood at the edge of lake Erie.
- Sentence #2 Exhausted, the runner collapsed at the finish line.
Shocked, he sat down in silence.
- Sentence #3 She stood at the top of the stairs and whispered to her brother, "Do you think Santa ate the sugar cookies?"
Max looked at the grinch and thought, "Why me?"
- Sentence #4 Dilbert just couldn't decide if he wanted the broccoli, the spinach or the brussels sprouts.
Chimpanzees, gorillas, orangutans, and gibbons all apes.
- Sentence #5 After emptying his backpack, searching under his bed, and digging through his locker he had realized he had lost the note forever.
All weekend, he painted his office, scraped wallpaper, and changed the electrical outlets.
- Sentence #6 To downhill ski well, you must master speed, balance and control.
To become a proficient writer, you must exercise the writing muscle every day.
- Sentence #7 Ms. Williamson's carpet is a shade of green that was considered the height of fashion in 1975.
The students' work is displayed on the walls.